THE TELLTALE FROG

croaking soon...

Katia Grifols was born in Barcelona, raised between Buenos Aires and the small Spanish town of Arenys de Munt, where she spent most of her childhood. Fascinated with the medieval castle her neighbors owned, Katia spent her youth getting into trouble with her sisters and befriending fairies and ghosts. She became a comic book artist, her art studies leading her to Osaka and even further, to Los Angeles! During those long student days, she missed her faraway family... so she wrote a book starring her little sister Tania and family dog Troy, imagining them finding trouble and solving supernatural mysteries with lots of humor and a comic-book flair! Many adventures later, Katia founded Glow in the Dark... and homesick once more, she dusted off this little detective book and decided it would be just the first of a collection of cases.

Glow in the Dark Concept Studio is an independent IP studio based in sunny Burbank, California, and it's only grown since Katia founded it in 2016.
